The World Today . . .

Big Five Storms

THIS IS BLUE MONDAY for the Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers who are struggling in London to rehabilitate a Europe which has been pulled to bits and tossed about like a haystack in a whirlwind.

Things haven't been going well. In fact they've reached a point which impels the London Daily Mail to say: "It has become clear that the first meeting of the council of foreign ministers has not succeeded. . . before the delegates disperse some face saving formula no doubt will be devised to cover their activities."

That isn't very cheering. However, there's more than that to the story. I think we must take into consideration that the council is only encountering difficulties which have been created. We have known that just such crises were bound to arise in the remaking of Europe—a fact that has been discussed often enough in this column.

Our hope has been, not that these critical situations could be avoided, but that they would be overcome in due course and that in the end we should have a solid peace. Thus far, while certainly the progress in the Big Five council meeting isn't pleasant reading, there's nothing to cause despair.

In analyzing this situation we must bear in mind not only that Europe has been ripped to pieces politically and economically, but that Russia has emerged as the new dominant power of the eastern hemisphere. And at the same time two world powers, Germany and Italy, have been knocked out completely while a third, France, has been dealt a staggering blow.

Now you can't have such titanic changes without producing temporary chaos. Centers of vacuum have been created, and they will be filled before order is restored. No wonder

Salem Woman Grows Own Lemons for Custard Pie

A lemon custard pie—made from lemons grown in Salem—was a prize item at dinner yesterday in the home of Mrs. J. H. Hinchcliffe, 1383 E. State st.

From a 20-year-old lemon tree, raised in a pot and trimmed to a three-foot height—came the lemon that made the pie. Other lemons, reputedly the size of grapefruit, are hanging on the tree now, Mrs. Hinchcliffe reports.

LEETONIA MERCHANT VICTIM IN ROBBERY

Two Thugs Attack Wagenhouser and Wife, Take Receipts

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wagenhouser of the Lisbon-Leetonia road were attacked and robbed of a large sum of money by two unidentified thieves as they arrived home about 9:30 p. m. Saturday after closing the meat market Wagenhouser operates at 260 Main st. in Leetonia.

Sheriff George Hayes was called to investigate and reported that little information was available for authorities to work on in solving the robbery.

Mrs. Wagenhouser was struck on top of the head by one of the pair as she reached the house to unlock the back door. Her husband, who drove the car back to the garage, was attacked by both men as he approached the house.

Sheriff Hayes said Mrs. Wagenhouser told him she was taken shortly after she was struck and one of the men rushed over her mouth to keep her from making further noise while the other man took the cash and checks from her husband.

Wagenhouser was struck by some blunt instrument under his left eye, seriously bruising his cheek bone. His wife was hit over the head and suffered a back injury in her fall.

The exact sum of money taken was not known today, but Sheriff Hayes said it was a large amount. The Saturday receipts at the store were known to be gone. The thieves did not take Mrs. Wagenhouser's purse.

The couple told authorities that no car was heard after the robbers left them, but the two headed towards the highway. No description of the thieves was obtained from the Wagenhousers, as both were stunned by the blows.

The nearest homes are from 200 to 300 yards away and neighbors there did not hear the disturbance.

ACHESON ASKS TEST OF HIS JAP STATEMENT

Acting Secretary Defends Statement On Occupation and MacArthur

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Acting Secretary of State Acheson told Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) today "to test" for himself the correctness of Acheson's view on Japanese occupation policy and General Douglas MacArthur's role.

Wherry promptly labelled Acheson's statement "unsatisfactory" and told reporters he would fight to send his nomination as under secretary of state back to committee.

Acheson wrote Wherry in response to a letter from the Republican whip asking nine questions relating to occupation policy in Japan. Wherry joined in delaying confirmation of Acheson last week after contending the acting secretary had insulted MacArthur.

Reply Made Public

Acheson's reply, made public today by the White House, said: "My Dear Senator Wherry: "It is plain to me from your letter of Sept. 21 that you have not had before you the statement which I made in response to a question from the press. I enclose the stenographic transcript of both question and answer. I also enclose a copy of the Potsdam proclamation calling your attention specifically to paragraph numbers 6 to 12, and the statement of general policy relating to Japan which has been released by the White House."

"With the documents before you, you will have the exact text of my answer and also the official pronouncements of the government on the same subject with which to test the correctness of my statement."

The statement which prompted Wherry's questions were made in response to a news conference question after MacArthur had announced the army's occupation forces in Japan had been reduced to 200,000 men. The army said earlier estimates were 500,000.

Key to Criticism

At the same time disclosure of United States' plans for converting the Japanese into a peaceful people—by civil war if necessary—brought to light what probably is the key to criticism expressed by Washington officials of Gen. MacArthur's estimate of occupation force needs.

This is the revelation American policy is to be supreme in the control of Japan. However, when possible, agreement of the other big powers—Russia, Britain and China—is to be obtained.

MacArthur said last week in about six months American forces in Japan probably could be reduced to 200,000 men.

Acting Secretary of State Acheson sharply reminded the general in a public statement that policy is made in Washington and not at headquarters in Tokyo.

EPPEES GIVEN LIFE FOR SLAYING WIFE

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 24.—Leut. Samuel C. Epes today changed his name for a convict's number and his uniform for black and white stripes.

The 27-year-old son of a wealthy Virginia family settled down to routine in the white-walled state penitentiary, where he will serve a life sentence.

The young medical officer was convicted of druging and suffocating his school-teacher wife and then burying her in an abandoned foxhole.

An all-male jury convicted the officer late Saturday.

Its verdict—guilty of murder, with recommendation of mercy—made a life sentence mandatory.

Pen Top Is Removed From Lisbon Boy's Lung

Resident Physician James T. Spencer said the boy's condition was satisfactory and he would be able, barring complications, to return home soon.

The boy swallowed the pen top two weeks ago.

Jewess Tells How 3,000 In Prison Died

Gives First Eye-Witness Account of Executions in German Camp

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

LUENEBERG, Germany, Sept. 24.—A Polish Jewess today told how 3,000 women at Oswiecim concentration camp were lined up naked by the camp commandant and selected for a Christmas day parade to the gas chamber.

Testifying at the trial of 45 Nazis charged with prison camp atrocities, Mrs. Sophia Litwinski, 28, of Lublin, said she lived through the horrors of the lethal chamber because she was mysteriously pulled out at the last moment on Christmas, 1941.

"Who was in charge of that parade?" the prosecutor asked.

Commandant Hessler, the witness shouted, pointing to one of the defendants. "He is a murderer responsible for the death of thousands."

Defendant Lowers Head

While Hessler lowered his head, the witness continued: "We were lined up quite naked while Hessler and two doctors made selections for the gas chamber. The victims were then loaded into trucks and hauled to the crematorium where they were dumped out like potatoes."

The victims filed into the gas chamber, which looked like a shower room.

Inside the chamber there were cries, tears—people were shaking and striking each other. Then I noticed yellow fumes, entering the room. I had a violent coughing spell. My name was called. I raised my arm, for my voice would not answer. Then someone pulled me out of the chamber. I don't know who. Later Hessler covered me in a blanket and took me on a motorcycle to the hospital."

"Were you given any explanation of why you were taken from the chamber?" the prosecutor asked.

"First Eye-Witness

"I arrived in camp in a transport that had come from a prison, which apparently made a difference. Also I was the wife of a Polish army officer."

Then the overhead floodlights were flashed on and the witness was led in front of the prisoners' cage. She identified 16 of them as guilty of atrocities at the camp, including the Belsen camp commandant, Josef Kramer, Hessler and Irma Grese.

Traced by British investigators in a painstaking search to find an actual eye-witness to the execution chamber's inner operation, her story is expected to be one of the most dramatic of the trial.

More Men Exempted From Overseas Duty

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A new set of screening scores exempts another 300,000 army officers and enlisted men from overseas assignment.

The War department last night announced that enlisted men won't be sent overseas if their point score or age equals or exceeds 36 points or 37 years of age, or 34 years of age with more than one year's service.

Officers with 48 points or more as of Sept. 2 will be exempt from overseas duty.

Some classes of officers have even lower exemptions. These are: Medical and dental corps officers, 45 points or 40 years of age; veterinary and medical administrative corps officers, 30 points or 35 years. Nurses are exempt if they have at least 12 points or are 30 years of age. So are medical department dieticians and physical therapy aids with 18 points or 30 years of age.

The new ruling does not apply to regular army personnel or to volunteers for duty abroad.

Truman Assumes Guardianship Over Atomic Bomb Secret

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The White House disclosed today the President soon will submit to congress his recommendations for the development and use of atomic energy.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the President "is not setting himself up as sole arbiter" of the future of the atomic bomb secret.

The President told reporters last night he was taking sole personal responsibility for administration policy on the use of atomic energy.

Ross said he wanted to make it clear today that this did not mean that he would play a lone hand.

"The President will submit his recommendations to congress," Ross said. "He is taking advice from the cabinet but his is the responsibility of deciding what the recommendations to congress shall be. It is expected the recommendations will be sent to the bill fairly soon."

Ross said he didn't want the wrong impression to get out as to the President's attitude. Congress, he said, will have to decide the question by legislative action.

In Guardian Role

But until it does, Mr. Truman served notice that he—and he alone—will make the final decision on what his administration's policy is to be on the future use and development of atomic energy.

The chief executive's pronouncement was delivered to reporters who accompanied him back to the White House last night from a week-end outing at Jefferson Islands, Md.

There had been published reports Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace had insisted at a cabinet meeting last Friday that Russia be given the secret of the bomb and be made a party to development of atomic energy.

Mr. Truman scoffed at the reports that Wallace had stirred up the cabinet.

The President went on to say the meeting was for the purpose of arriving at a decision on administration policy, to be considered by congress, on the future of atomic energy.

The whole discussion, he added, was based on a premise outlined by Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a premise Mr. Truman said he could not disclose at this time.

In the final analysis, Mr. Truman said, he and he alone, will take full personal responsibility for the future use and development of the awesome discovery.

WPB's Meeting Tomorrow. The 100th. May Be Last

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Tomorrow's 100th meeting of the War production board may be its last. The agency is aiming at liquidation. Chairman J. A. Krug, who managed WPB's shift from an arms production to a reconversion agency, this week will lay a liquidation plan and his own resignation before President Truman.

Both would be effective Nov. 1 if Mr. Truman concurs. WPB's remaining controls would be transferred to Reconversion Director John W. Snyder.

STRIKES GROW IN CLEVELAND

New Wage Demands In Area Threaten General Gas Famine

(By Associated Press)

Cleveland's critical gasoline situation became further involved today when the AFL-Petroleum Drivers' union demanded an immediate wage increase for all drivers employed by the major oil companies.

Edward F. Murphy, president of the AFL-Teamsters' district council, presented the demand for an increase of "at least 30 per cent" to representatives of the oil companies at a meeting in Cleveland today.

The Standard Oil Co., already closed by a strike of the CIO-Oil Workers' union, was the only major company not represented at the meeting. The AFL union does not represent Sohio drivers, but is seeking such recognition in a petition now pending with the National Labor Relations Board.

Rejection of the drivers' demand may lead to a general gasoline strike in the Cleveland area, Murphy said.

"Further action would be determined by members of the union," he explained, "although we would undoubtedly recommend strike action to enforce the demand."

Closing of Sohio's two refineries at Cleveland has cut off 60 per cent of the area's gasoline supply and closed pipelines to other industrial centers in the state.

The drivers' demand was the latest incident in a tense situation which was featured earlier by action of AFL craft workers in moving through a CIO picket line at Standard Oil's refinery at Cleveland.

In an effort to avert a threatened clash between the two rival labor forces, Supt. James P. Foley of the police labor bureau stationed the entire personnel of two mounted troops at the gates through which the craftsmen entered. Beat patrolmen were stationed at other gates of the refinery.

Ashtabula Driver Hurt In Lisbon Road Crash

John Shinnault, 36, of Ashtabula, suffered a cut upper lip and bruises at 12:30 a. m. Sunday on Route 45, near the Salem state patrol station, when his car collided with another driven by Arden Bowman, 25, of R.D. 4, Salem.

Patrolmen said Bowman was making a left turn into a drive when Shinnault's car struck Bowman's as he tried to pass the Salem driver. Both cars were damaged slightly.

Mrs. Russell L. Gladfelter, 38, of Pittsburgh, Pa., suffered a back injury at 9:30 a. m. yesterday when the car her husband was driving skidded and overturned in Ekton, on Route 154.

The car was demolished, Sheriff George Hayes reported, and Mrs. Gladfelter was taken to the Salem City hospital.

SAY EMPEROR WILL CALL AT U. S. EMBASSY

Supreme Commander Puts Strict Control Over Jap Economics

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO, Sept. 24.—Well-informed Japanese sources said today Emperor Hirohito has arranged to pay a precedent-shattering call on General MacArthur at the latter's residence in the American embassy building. No date was specified.

The decision on a meeting place of conqueror and conquered was reached, these sources told Associated Press Correspondent Russell Brines, at a recent conference between MacArthur and Admiral Rujita, grand chamberlain.

Official confirmation was lacking.

The Allied high command blocked any atomic-bomb research in Japan, directed rigid control of Japanese economic life including wages, prices and all traffic in currencies and negotiable assets, and moved toward a free Japanese press.

Free Press Is Goal

The news order directed the Imperial government to remove itself completely from direct or indirect control of newspapers and news agencies.

The order paves the way for establishment of new and truly free competing agencies.

Two other far-reaching directives aimed at freezing traffic in currencies and other negotiable assets, to facilitate the task of "finger-printing" Japan's assets at home and abroad.

Prohibited are export or import of gold or silver coin; gold, silver, and platinum bullion or currency; and securities, checks, bank drafts, bills of exchange, powers of attorney, proxies and any evidence of indebtedness or evidence of property ownership has specifically exempted.

One of the Emperor's closest advisers disclosed that in his opinion Emperor Hirohito did receive President Roosevelt's peace plea and the U. S. State department's Nov. 26, 1941, peace memorandum—but ignored both when warlord Hideki Tojo and other advisers told him it was useless to resist the rising war tide in Japan.

The adviser, Marquis Koichi Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal, also told AP Correspondent Brines that he believed the Emperor had no advance knowledge of the Pearl Harbor attack.

No Abdication

Guthrie, said Kido, reports of abdication moves are "false." (The Chungking radio, according to today reported in a Chinese language broadcast that the emperor had abdicated, but there was no confirmation and Premier Prince Higashikuni speedily issued an official denial.)

Gen. Kenji Doihara, Japanese military intelligence figure named commander of the First army only last week, surrendered and was jailed at Yokohama for questioning about war crimes.

Furthermore, said Kido, reports MacArthur's list of suspected war criminals to be jailed at Yokohama. Also arrested at Miyazaki, near Tokyo, was the Siamese ambassador to Japan, Wathakanwit, another on the general's "wanted" list.

VETS NOT REQUIRED TO JOIN UNIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—No veteran of World War II is required to join a labor union to obtain his former job, according to Selective Service.

This policy, followed by the agency for months, is laid down specifically in a new Selective Service handbook prepared for the guidance of draft boards in aiding veterans.

The handbook states:

"Union membership or other conditions not enumerated in the (draft) law may not . . . be required of a veteran as a prerequisite to his reinstatement."

The handbook also reiterates selective services' position that all veterans have an absolute right to reinstatement in the jobs they left to enter service.

This position has created what has come to be known as the super seniority issue. It means Selective Service holds it was the intent of congress that veterans should have their former positions even if it becomes necessary to oust a non-veteran with greater seniority.

A Matter of Discretion

When Senator Tydings of Maryland stalked out of a meeting of his state's congressional delegation with CIO spokesmen late last week, charging they were practicing coercion to line up votes for the CIO's legislative program, he called attention to a question of procedure in pressure politics.

Senator Tydings and other members of Congress had been subjected to the implied coercion of a junket of 600 CIO members who came to Washington from New York City to stage a demonstration. This tactic differed only in degree from previous CIO demonstrations to impress legislators. In the Ohio General Assembly last June, while the upper house was considering a change in the state unemployment insurance law, a CIO group descended on Columbus and dictated a change in the day's agenda.

This kind of a muscle-making is a matter of discretion inside the CIO. There is no law against staging a demonstration, any more than there is a law against presenting petitions to lawmakers. Political coercion, of course, is implied in every attempt to persuade a legislator to make up his mind in a certain way, though in some cases it is more subtly conveyed than in others. This isn't the first time Senator Tydings has been advised that his vote on somebody's pet measure will be reviewed carefully at the next election.

It is evident that Senator Tydings shares resentment with many other Americans against the attitude that prompts CIO to practice pressure politics with its gloves off. Hundreds of communities in the United States have seen the organization perform in this manner. The current wave of strikes is only one more climax. The first big climax took place with CIO's full-dress entrance into presidential politics in 1944.

The muscle it made in the national campaign and the way it made the muscle raised doubts as well as votes. The muscle it is making now is raising doubts, too. In American politics there is an automatic reaction against the assumption of public power. Individuals and organizations that show an inclination to over-reach call unfavorable attention to themselves. There is an unwritten law, founded in national instinct, to distrust political procedures based on minority power.

The CIO is not immune to public opinion. Its strategists and spokesmen will need to consider whether they might be making the mistake of trying so hard to get what they want that they will lose—or never be able to claim—what they need, which is the sympathy of the great majority of the American people. It is a matter of their discretion. They are free to judge, and so is the public. Our history is full of the names of organizations that went by the board because they forgot that in a democracy the public's judgment ultimately must prevail.

Intelligence Service

President Truman's reshuffle of wartime jobs performed by the Office of Strategic Services may guarantee more preparedness than most of the military moves in the making. One of the consequences of disbanding OSS is to give the State Department direct responsibility for maintenance of an intelligence service.

Here is, by all odds, one of the most engaging theories of national preparedness: that since no nation can arm itself secretly, therefore a nation which always knows what other nations are doing can prepare itself for any eventuality.

In other words, it is unnecessary to maintain huge military establishments, except to offset imminent danger—as unnecessary as it would be to carry an overcoat in August. There is little or no likelihood of war in the next 10 years. Yet, it will be during the next 10 years that the United States will be militarily strongest, simply because of the momentum of World War II.

The danger will come when World War II grows remote. It will come with the return of such nonsense as the lack of information about Japan that beguiled government spokesmen into boasting that the United States could whip the Japanese in six weeks; such ignorance as the notion that Germany could knock out Russia in three months; such folly as the belief in 1939 that Germany was unable to go to war. If the United States had reliable information before the outbreak of World War II, it was kept well concealed. If it could be guaranteed intelligence worthy of the name in the next generation, we could quit worrying about the unknown and concentrate on dealing with the known. A first-rate intelligence service would do more for national defense than a two-ocean navy, a global air force and compulsory military training.

Strings On Loans

It is said that Premier Stalin would like the United States to lend Russia $6,000,000,000 to help rebuild that war-torn country and raise its living standard. Final decision on such a request will surely require, as Senator Russell of Georgia has said, "a good deal more than snap judgment."

Congress may insist upon knowing how the money is to be spent before any rehabilitation loans are made to foreign governments. And it would seem reasonable that before any billions are lent to Russia, this country should have definite assurance that the Communists will not be revived here.

Of course, the Comintern is officially dead. But the American Communists quickly reverted to political action and their party lines after a spell of 100-per-cent Americanism which lasted only as long as Russia was involved in the European war.

America, being committed to free speech, has tolerated the American Communists long and patiently. It has protected them while they preached revolution and the overthrow of capitalism. One might safely guess that the Moscow government would have been considerably less patient with a revolutionary movement in Russia to set up an American capitalistic system.

Whatever Communists in Russia or Socialists in England may say about capitalism, they cannot deny that the war products of America's capitalist industry helped their countries considerably during the war. Nor can they deny that the billions of capitalist America's dollars that their countries are seeking would be equally helpful now.

But what Russians or Englishmen say in their own countries is none of our business, even though their oratorical bites at the hand they hope will feed them can be somewhat tiresome and irritating.

The resumption of Russian support for American Communists' revolutionary activities, however, would be our business. For Americans to finance even indirectly such a program would be absurd, to say the least. It would be as if the goose in the fable had voluntarily contributed a few golden eggs to a fund with which the farmer hoped to buy an ax and kill the bird.

There is scant danger that American Communists will start a shooting revolution. But there is a legitimate fear that Russian support of their incessant sniping at our social system, at a time when Russia was rebuilding with the help of American dollars, would so righteously infuriate the American people that peaceful relations between the world's two greatest countries might be jeopardized.

Americans have no quarrel with the Russian type of government for the Russians. If Premier Stalin and his people will maintain a like feeling toward us, lasting peace will have a better chance of becoming a reality.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, September 25.

ALTHOUGH this may be a particularly lively day, with sudden events having a surprising and unpredictable switch into new and important channels, it will require much astute and sagacious manipulation if any worthwhile success or progress is achieved. It may be desirable to make an about face from established plans, methods and objectives and launch into fresh ways and means, perhaps environs and associates. Trivial duplicates, lack of support may throw one entirely on his own resources, industry and sound judgment.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of lively and intriguing events in which ultimate results depend upon clever, shrewd and keen grasp of underlying factors. It is probable that a swift change from original ideas, policies and purposes, even a shift into new fields of operation, with new agreements, contracts and associates may prove profitable and develop enduring values.

Little cooperation from old supporters, perhaps petty treacheries and intrigues, demand a swift re-vamping of situations, together with sound judgment, keen analysis of current setbacks, and hard work, patience and perseverance in putting over new programs. Originality and ingenuity should finally win against uncertainties.

A child born on this day will be versatile and talented, with originality and capacity for hard work. This will be needed to cope with sparse cooperation from others.

Theories On Kidney Stones

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

KIDNEY stones differ greatly in their chemical make-up, but all of them are composed of salts present in the kidney excretions. Before a kidney stone can form, there must be some abnormal condition present in the kidney.

Probably the most important single cause for the formation of kidney stones is the condition in which the kidney is putting out secretions which are overloaded with a single type of salt. For example, there is a condition which seems to run in families, in which the urine contains a great deal of a substance known as cystine.

Gland Secretion

Then there are persons who suffer from excessive secretion from the parathyroid glands and these individuals eliminate an excessive amount of lime salts. Both of these groups of persons tend to form kidney stones.

A possible explanation for the formation of kidney stones is a lack of vitamin A in the diet. Such a deficiency will cause the urine to be highly alkaline, to contain a great deal of substances known as phosphates, and may lead to urinary tract infections.

In certain persons, according to Doctor Alexander Randall of Philadelphia, the urine is highly acid, due to a disturbance in the action of the liver. Such persons also tend to form stones composed of uric acid.

Some stones are made up of substances known as oxalates. Doctor Randall thinks that these persons have some digestive disturbance and that they eat foods which contain excessive amounts of oxalates.

There is also a theory that infections of the kidney may be responsible for the formation of kidney stones. However, there is no definite evidence to prove this idea.

Insofar as the treatment of kidney stone is concerned, surgical removal is often necessary if the stone is large. If it is a smaller stone it often may pass downward from the kidney into the bladder and be eliminated in this way. There is always a tendency for kidney stones to reform.

Stone Analyzed

To prevent this, it is suggested that when a stone is removed, it be analyzed to determine its make-up. If the stone contains a great deal of uric acid salts, it is suggested that the patient be given some alkaline substance to keep the urine alkaline at all times. If the stones are made up of oxalates, the diet should contain no foods in which there are oxalates and the patient may also be given some alkaline substance. He should also be encouraged to drink plenty of water each day.

It is suggested that the taking of large quantities of water is important in the prevention of kidney stones.

Here's the best advice that we can give to Plymouth, DODGE, DeSoto and CHRYSLER owners—

With gasoline rationing lifted, we know that now, more than ever, you want to get the best possible use out of your car and we'd like to help you in every way we can. So we offer these suggestions in an effort to be of service to you if you own a Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler car.

1-TAKE CARE OF YOUR CAR UNTIL YOU CAN GET A NEW CAR

Plans are now underway for the making of automobiles during the coming months. But it may be some time before you can get one.

So the wise thing from your standpoint is to give your present car the care it needs to keep it in good running order.

2-TAKE IT TO THE DEALER WHO IS SPECIALLY EQUIPPED TO GIVE YOU SERVICE

There are many reasons why it is to your advantage to take your car to the Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer.

He knows your car and he has special facilities to give you good service. He can apply the experience, equipment and factory-engineered parts to take care of the job.

Hine Praises New Ford Shown For First Time

The first preview since Pearl Harbor of a new model automobile was staged last week in the Carter hotel by the Ford Motor Co. for Ford dealers and newspapermen of the Cleveland branch area. On display were the new 1945 Fords, which arrived recently from the company's Buffalo plant production line.

Ray Allen, branch manager, announced that the public showings would be held on V-8 day, late in September, simultaneously in dealer showrooms throughout the country.

He also extended the appreciation of the Ford Motor Co. to the dealers for the exceptional job they have done during the trying times of the past three years in rendering a high type of service to owners of Ford products.

He stated that the Ford Co. would be turning out thousands of passenger cars and trucks during the last quarter of this year and with restrictions off, the first quarter of 1946 should result in production at nearly pre-war levels, and it is hoped in excess of this before the summer months of 1946.

The 1946 Ford incorporates the results of four years of research and production know-how and contains more mechanical improvements than were in any previous year to year model. It was designed and built without compromise of traditional Ford quality in workmanship and material and is not a stop-gap model, according to H. I. Hine, the Salem distributor.

OUR SERVICE GOAL...

"Zero-Day" Installations

BEFORE THE WAR we were equipped to install practically all telephone service on the same day it was ordered, if our customer wished prompt connection. We call these "zero-day" installations.

Now most orders for telephone service cannot be installed promptly due to equipment shortages. For three years practically all of our manufacturing facilities have been busy making telephones, switchboards, radio apparatus and other communications devices for war. Despite our efforts to serve as many persons as possible by stretching existing facilities to the limit and by operating our exchanges above normal capacity, some 95,000 Ohioans in our territory are waiting for telephone service.

Victory enables us to go ahead with all possible speed with the tremendous job of extending and improving our facilities so we can care for those waiting for service.

Clippers Fight Hard But See Tri-County Loop Hope Dimmed By Louisville Win

Not beaten as badly as the 20-0 score would indicate, a game, scrappy and far from a poor Columbiana Clipper eleven saw their Tri-County hopes dimmed somewhat by Louisville at Firestone park Saturday afternoon on a trifle too warm football day.

Clippertown, as well as Raidertown, turned out well to bask in the bright sunshine as the two Tri-County loop teams renewed their rivalry on the gridiron once again. Slightly more than 1,000 saw the game.

It was a tight fray most of the time, despite the top-sided final score. The Clippers were very much in the ball game from the start, when it looked like things were going to go all their way.

Louisville scored first, shortly after the opening of the second frame when a 35-yard pass from Gus Starck to Karl Leslie brought the ball to the Clipper three yard line. Starck, a hefty but swift operator, crashed over on the next play for the score. Bill Stan went in to kick but booted low.

Columbiana came back fighting mad and drove after the kickoff from their own 30 to the Raiders' 30, in all 11 bone-rushing power plays, where four downs left four yards to go and Louisville took over.

Shortly afterwards, Louisville made a threat after Don Gulling who was a lot of halfback for his 150 pounds, intercepted Don Kurtz's pass on the Columbiana 40.

The Raiders pushed to the Clipper seven before the half stopped the drive on second down with a goal to go. Starck reeled off a nice 20-yard sprint around the Clipper left end to help the spurt.

Clippers Spurt In Third Frank Gorchett partially blocked a Raider boot after the half started and it looked like the Clippers were on comeback trail. Louisville recovered the punt and on fourth down tried it again.

The Clippers took over on the Louisville 44 and in seven line plays, featuring short, hard smashes by Bill Newell, Bob Hum and Carl Sheets, advanced the oval to the Raider 26. Sheets ended the threat when he tried for five on the fourth down and was stopped short.

From then on, Louisville was continually in Columbiana territory and the Clipper T failed to gain ground with any consistency. As the third period closed and the final bench Louisville marched to the Clipper 33, was stopped and the Clippers tried their wares.

Fumble Costly On the second Columbiana play a fumble by Jim Berryman was recovered by Ed Menegay on the Clipper 30. Two plays later Gulling broke through left tackle, started for the sidelines, then reversed his field and scampered the 30 yards for the second score. Stan converted for the extra and it was 13-0.

Columbiana's power seemed to weaken and four plays after the kickoff by Stan, the Raiders were on the prowl for points again.

Gulling returned Hum's boot from the Clipper 21 to the Columbiana 44, where the final drive began. Starck passed to Roelia for 12 yards, then hit left end for 11 more

CLIPPERS' BAND SCORES AT HALF

Although not large, nor particularly loud, the Columbiana High school band gives a good account of itself at the colorful home games at Firestone stadium in Clippertown.

Numbering about 35 pieces, the small but well-clad red uniformed unit, is a vital part of the entertaining Saturday shows staged at the neighboring community.

Led by Head Drum Major Jenny Childers, a smooth, neat stepping drum major, the band is also headed by assistant Major J. E. Eddy. Five well-trained marchers, bedecked in white, complete the all-girl majorette crew.

The unit will appear again at the Minerva-Clipper game at Columbiana Saturday afternoon.

and Al Metzger heaved to Gulling for an additional six. Starck crashed center for eight yards to bring the oval to the Clipper five from where Starck again circled the right end, untouched, to score standing up. Stan's kick was good, but he was flattened and went out like a light on the play—all 215 yards of him.

Clippers Fought Hard The Clippers lost, but only after a fight which produced enough points to keep the Raiders from their toes all the way. Newell and Sheets performed some frightening powerful runs, while Kurtz, who was hindered somewhat by an early injury, played heads-up ball most of the way.

GRID FOLLOWERS TO GET PEEK AT LAST YEAR'S ACES

Four Powers of '44 to Open Seasons With Tough Saturday Games

BY MURRAY ROSE NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Gridiron followers will get their first peek Saturday at the power teams of last season, Army, Navy, Ohio State and Notre Dame, but meanwhile the Midwest wonders if Ex-Marine Bernie Bierman has come up with another Minnesota juggernaut.

The Gophers, rolling along with the polish and precision of the eleven Bierman turned out before he joined the Marines in 1942, bowled over Missouri 34-0 in their opener Saturday.

The Cadets, No. 1 team of 1944 with nine straight victories, swung into action alone against the Air Forces personnel distribution center in what appears to be a warmup for the loaded army squad.

Navy, with the something extra added in Bob Hoernschmeyer of Indiana and Bob Kelly of Notre Dame, tries out the T formation against Villanova, 19-7 conquerors of Bucknell.

Ohio State, unbeaten in nine titles last season, figures to breeze by Missouri at Columbia, while Hughie Devore gets his first test as Notre Dame coach when the Ramblers take on Illinois who walloped Pittsburgh 23-6.

East Parade Starts With Yale, undefeated last season, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Columbia and Colgate joining the pigskin parade, the east's big games include Yale vs Tufts, Pennsylvania vs Brown; Dartmouth vs Holy Cross; Columbia vs Lafayette; Colgate vs Rochester; Penn State vs Muhlenberg; and Pittsburgh vs West Virginia, the last a 42-6 winner over Otterbein.

Cornell, which gave Ed McKeever a successful sendoff in his Big Red coaching debut by whipping Syracuse 26-14, takes on Bucknell Saturday and Syracuse meets Temple Friday night.

In the Midwest, Bo McMillin's cocky Indiana Hoosiers, who defeated Michigan 13-7, tangle with Northwestern, which stopped Iowa State 18-6; Michigan meets Michigan State; Purdue's Boilermakers, with a 14-13 triumph over Marquette are scheduled.

The No. 1 game on the Pacific coast pits California, upset 20-13 by St. Mary's, against the Trojans of Southern California who squeaked by U.C.L.A. 13-6 Friday night.

St. Mary's faces the San Francisco Coast Guard. In other contests Saturday, Duke's Sugar Bowl champions overwhelmed South Carolina 60-0; Oklahoma whipped Hondo (Tex.) AAP 21-6; Texas beat Bergstrom field 13-7; Southern Methodist shelved Blackland AAP 51-0; Texas A. & M. trampled Ellington field 54-0; Arkansas nosed out Arkansas field 12-6; and Tulsa defeated Wichita, 61-0.

SENATORS ERROR COSTS CHANCE TO TIE LEAGUE RACE

George Binks Forgot Sun Glasses, Missed Third Out, Lost Game

BY JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer Should the Washington Senators fail to win the American league pennant by a single game, the name of George (Bingo) Binks may go down in baseball's history books alongside such celebrated ones as Fred Merkle, Fred Snodgrass, Heinie Zimmerman, Mickey Owen and others whose "boners" cost their respective clubs either a pennant or a World's Series.

It was Outfielder Binks' failure to equip himself with sun glasses that cost the Nats a chance for a clean sweep of yesterday's doubleheader with the Athletics and a virtual tie for first place with Detroit's league leading Tigers, who were beaten by the St. Louis Browns.

The oversight enabled Philadelphia to win the opener 4-3 in 12 innings, the identical score by which the Senators copped the nightcap which was limited to eight innings by darkness.

The Tigers open a two-game stand against Cleveland Tuesday and then jump to St. Louis for a pair on Saturday and Sunday.

Binks' boner came in the 12th with the score tied 3-3. At the start of the inning, the sun, which had been hiding in a murky sky all day, came out while Washington was at bat. He then left his sunglasses on the bench.

Misses, Then Losses Walter Masterson, second Nat hurler, quickly got two men out and Ernie Kish's high fly to center should have retired the side. But Binks lost the ball in the sun and it fell for a double. After Dick Siebert was purposely passed, George Kell stroked the payoff poke, a single to right which sent Kish over the plate with the winning run.

Washington tagged no-hit Dick Fowler for three runs in the third inning of the nightcap. After the A's again came from far back to tie the game, Washington won it in the eighth on successive doubles by George Case and George Myatt.

Marino Pieretti, celebrating his 24th birthday, was the winning hurler.

The Tigers were tamed by Nelson Potter, veteran St. Louis right-hander, who handcuffed them with two safeties in registering a 5-0 shutout for his eighth straight victory and his 15th of the season.

The National league flag chase remained unchanged as both Chicago and St. Louis won. The Cubs protected their game and a half advantage by trimming the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3 in the opener of a scheduled twin-bill. The second game was washed out by a thunderstorm necessitating a doubleheader today.

The Cards continued to hound the Cubs by battering four Cincinnati hurlers for 12 hits including a home run by Whitey Kurowski, to whip the Reds 9-6.

The World Today

then that we find the London News Chronicle saying of the Big Five conference that "the most disturbing part of the sorry situation is the way in which those spheres of influence" and "power politics" stalk the stage."

Spheres of influence certainly are the cause of the disturbance—just as has been expected. It's all very well to make the idealistic claim that spheres of influence are bad and shouldn't exist, but practically they do exist and will continue to exist until our world has been remodeled into the perfect peace setup.

What makes the situation more complicated is the fact that the German and Italian spheres of influence—and they were large—have been dumped willy-nilly into the open market. Those spheres will be absorbed by some power, and we are now in process of finding out who's who.

Then of course the westward thrust of Russian influence has created an entirely new factor. There are bound to be spots where Soviet and British interests clash, and where other interests clash, and where other interests conflict. We see that already in the Balkans and in the Mediterranean theatre.

These and other controversial factors are creating the difficulties which are troubling the Big Five conference. But all this has been in the cards since the start. These delicate and admittedly dangerous adjustments must be made.

That's why this column long ago said that the first year after war ended would be the crucial period. In this time the dominant Big Three, upon whom maintenance of peace mainly depends, must iron out all these problems of spheres
